IN FAVOR OF FREE COINAGE.

Metropolitan Hall, San Francisco, was filled to overflowing Saturday night. Long before the hour of meeting every seat was filled and when the meeting was called to order, the chairman, Judge Beishaw, said the object of the meeting was to get the people to take action in favor of the resumption of silver and to lead their support in bringing it once more to its proper place in the coinage of the world, and he deemed it inadvisable to mix this particular political question with any other question.

Resolutions were adopted declaring that contraction of the nation's currency tends to financial ruin. It has led to hard times, is paralyzing industrial enterprises, causing crops to be abandoned for want of money to move them; stopping silver mining and throwing vast numbers of workmen upon an already glutted labor market. The silver question is of world-wide importance, involving as it does the only relief from the domination of the gold trust; that the secret demonization of silver was a crime, which can never be expiated except by its complete rehabilitation, and that California is in full sympathy with her sister states wherein silver mining is the chief industry.

The meeting declared that it is the duty of all senators and congressmen of California in the matter of silver to regard the will and interest of their constituents and of the people rather than the will of party leaders and the president and that while the passage of the Sherman act was a mistake, its repeal would be a greater one until such legislation has been secured that will afford ample guarantee of the use of silver in the coinage under our laws prior to 1873. The adoption of a purely American policy was favored, free from foreign influence, and from enforced obedience to the money kings of London and Berlin, and the belief was expressed that such a policy would restore confidence, avert further disaster and restore all interests to their normal healthy condition.

Timothy Guy Phelps, ex-collector of customs, made the opening speech and he was followed by G. W. Baker and Col. A. C. Ellis. At the close of the speaking resolutions demanding that the representatives in congress from the fourth and fifth districts vote against the repeal or modification of the so-called Sherman act unless such modification be supplemented by provision for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 was adopted without a dissenting vote.

The meeting was one of the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in San Francisco, and the resolution favoring silver was received with shouts of applause.

CALIFORNIA'S NEW SENATOR.

Ex-Governor George C. Perkins of California has been appointed United States senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Stanford. The new senator said his appointment was a great surprise to him as it came without solicitation. When asked as to his views on the silver question he said he thought yesterday he had decided views on the subject, but now he has none, and the same is true of other matters. Then he was a private citizen and entitled to express his sentiments as his own judgment dictated. Now, it is different, he is one of the jury and will not find a verdict in regard to questions of national policy until all of the evidence is in. That evidence is now being given through public meetings and the public press.

If Senator Perkins is governed in his action on the silver question by the sentiment of the people as expressed at the public meetings now being held, he will undoubtedly vote for free coinage.

THEY FIND NO FAULT WITH SHERMAN.

Ex-Congressman Platt recently asserted that the demonization act of 1873 was the result of a conspiracy concocted by European bondholders to depreciate the value of silver and make securities which were payable in gold or silver coin redeemable in gold only. Senator Sherman of Ohio publicly declared that Platt and all others who made such assertions ought to be hanged. Not one of the gold papers or speakers condemn the unwarranted language of Sherman as incendiary, though they denounce much less violent language when used by silver men in expressing their opinions of the gold trust and its political aids and abettors.

ment or passion he coolly proclaims that a respectable man ought to be hanged for intimating that the crime of 1873 was the outcome of a conspiracy to make bonds payable in gold and his language if not endorsed by goldbugs is certainly not condemned by them. What a great difference it makes whose ox is gored.

THE CHICAGO RACES.

The Owner of Boundless is the Heaviest Winner.

THE RAVAGES OF CHOLERA.

A Fight Between Huns and Poles in Pennsylvania.

Successful Races.

CHICAGO, July 23.—With Saturday's racing at Washington park, terminated the most successful meeting ever held in the west if not in America. The fields were uniformly large, too large in fact at times for the width of the track, and the class was far better than ever seen before in the west.

During the meeting 157 races were run, of which seventeen were stakes. Fonso is the only sire credited with two stake winners. Ellen and Rudolph between them took the Lakeside, Great Western and Columbus handicaps. Folus is credited with three stake wins but Morello has more than all of them. In point of number of winning races Fonso and Longfellow stand at the head of winning stallions for the meeting—each having seven wins to his credit.

J. E. Cushing was the heaviest winner, $50,000, the Keene stables second, $14,065, and the Aetna stables third, with $27,083.

Ravages of Cholera.

LONDON, July 24.—Details of the ravages of cholera in Mecca are even more terrible than the stories from Russia last year. Dr. Chaffy, the Egyptian delegate to the sanitary council of Alexandria, reports the number of deaths is more than twice the official figures. There were 135,000 pilgrims in Mecca when the cholera broke out, and at least 10 per cent of them died, besides a large proportion of the native population of 60,000. He said that at Mecca it had been impossible to find different places in the neighborhood. At Mahmal there were also found a number of unburied bodies. Returning from Mecca to Mecca the route was strewn with corpses. In the interior of Mecca bodies were lying in a state of putrefaction. When it was decided to carry them to the cemetery they were left there three days unburied, owing to lack of a sufficient number of grave diggers.

The Fair Closed on Sunday.—Fires. CHICAGO, July 24.—The world's fair was closed Sunday to all but employees, concessionaires and newspaper representatives. The whole aspect of the grounds was one of peaceful quiet. Another serious fire in the manufacturing building, chargeable again to the careless handling of fireworks outside, was only averted last night by prompt work of the firemen. Two of these occurrences in a week have been enough, and hereafter fireworks, if they are sent up, will have to go off from a float a thousand feet in the lake.

A panic was narrowly averted in the Palmer House by a fire in the hotel laundry in the basement. A great volume of smoke rolled up through the halls and into the rooms, seriously alarming the guests, who were, however quickly assured that there was no danger.

Race Riot in Pennsylvania. SCRANTON, Pa., July 24.—At Priceburg, yesterday, a number of Huns and Poles got drunk after being paid and a fight ensued. Four Hungarians were arrested and locked up. Later in the evening a large body of Hungarians proceeded to the jail, overpowered the keeper and liberated the prisoners. The Poles took exception to this and a serious race fight began, which lasted three hours, the officers being driven off. Over thirty men were injured, three fatally, and some damage was done to property. The sheriff went to town with a well armed posse about midnight and quelled the riot.

Politics in Iowa. DES MOINES, Iowa, July 24.—Politics has become the absorbing question in Iowa. It is only a little more than two weeks until the Republican state convention meets at Des Moines. The Democratic convention follows within a week, and the Populist convention comes close on the heels of the Democratic.

One noticeable feature of the currency situation is the increasing issue of national bank notes, nearly $4,000,000 worth of notes having been issued last month, while this month promises to show even a larger issue.

The Palace Hotel, which is well and favorably known to every old Nevada, is being conducted as usual by the veteran landlord, Al White, who spares neither pains nor pains to provide for the convenience of guests.

THE COMSTOCK MINES.

One of the Most Critical Periods in the History of the Great Lode.

Chas. H. Fish, president of the Consolidated California and Virginia, Orphir, Mexican, Union, and Sierra Nevada mining companies, went to Virginia city Saturday. The San Francisco Report has the following relative to his mission to the Comstock, and to the reduction of expenses:

"It is understood that one of the objects of his trip is to look into the feasibility of shutting down the C. and O. shaft and working most of the mines named through the Orphir shaft, which has been put in good order. If this can be done advantageously it will effect a great saving of expenses for all these mines. It would not be necessary to hoist the waste rock to the surface, for that can be sent out through the Sutro Tunnel under the existing contract with the Comstock Tunnel Company.

On the same train that will carry Mr. Fish will also go five important documents. They will be addressed to the Virginia & Truckee Railroad Company, Virginia and Gold Hill Mining Company, Sierra Wood and Lumber Company, and the miners' and mechanics' unions of Virginia and Gold Hill. They contain a request that the charges of the corporations and the wages of miners and mechanics be reduced to conform with a reduction of the salaries of all officials connected with the mining companies which has been agreed upon. The signatures of the President and Secretary of every mining company on the Comstock are fixed to the documents. Accompanying each is a letter asking that the requests be considered and a reply made as early as possible.

It now remains to be seen whether the railroad, the wood and lumber, and water companies, and the miners and mechanics of the Comstock will join with the salaried officials of the mines in this movement to reduce expenses.

If the desired reduction in expenses can be made 1,000 men will be put to work in the mines, and vast quantities of ores assaying from $12 to $20 per ton, containing a high percentage of gold, can be extracted and made to yield a fair profit. The number of miners actually at work in the Comstock at the present time does not exceed 325. If expenses cannot be reduced, and the companies find that they cannot collect assessments, they will be reluctantly compelled to close down all the mines. The injury of such a complete suspension of work to the railroad, wood, lumber and water interests, the miners, mechanics, merchants and others who depend upon the Comstock, would be great, and if possible, it should be averted by an acceptance of the reductions proposed, which, if made, will bring prosperity to the whole Comstock. Mining on the Comstock as a steady and legitimate business ought to continue for many generations to come. Consequently, most of the mines should be self-sustaining, and several of them regularly paying dividends, even with silver at its present depressed price, for the ores on the average contain nearly one-half gold and in some cases three-quarters gold.

It remains with those leading interests who are about to be appealed to to decide whether the great lode shall be operated in such a profitable way or whether it shall be speedily abandoned.

"German Syrup"

For Throat and Lungs
Hemorrhage
Five Years.

"I have been ill for about five years, have had the best medical advice, and I took the first dose in some doubt. This resulted in a few hours easy sleep. There was no further hemorrhage till next day, when I had a slight attack which stopped almost immediately. By the third day all trace of blood had disappeared and I had recovered much strength. The fourth day I sat up in bed and ate my dinner, the first solid food for two months. Since that time I have gradually gotten better and am now able to move about the house. My death was daily expected and my recovery has been a great surprise to my friends and the doctor. There can be no doubt about the effect of German Syrup, as I had an attack just previous to its use. The only relief was after the first dose." J. R. LOUGHRAN, Adelaide, Australia.

Taking Down a Drummer.
A few years ago a number of us were stopping at the Henry House in Abilene, Kan. Among the guests was a plump, fat, well-dressed drummer from Boston. He had no desire to make up or affiliate with the "boys," but was a crowd all to himself, so we concluded to initiate him. About six miles west of Abilene was a water station called "Sand Springs." As soon as Mr. "Boston" was within earshot, one man said, "Well, I got in one nice order yesterday from Jones at Sand Springs." "Yes," said another, "I fixed him with his boots and shoes." "And I," said another, "sold him a splendid order of notions." Another one said, "I heard him wish a clothing man would come along." Mr. "Boston" at once pricked up his ears, went into the ticket office and asked the agent, "Where is Sand Springs?" The agent told him, "The first station west." He purchased a ticket and had his seven big trunks checked to "Sand Springs." When the train arrived there, the baggage men rolled his trunks out on the prairie. Mr. B. inquired of the burly fisherman who ran the pump engine, "Where's the town, sir?" "Be jabbers, it's meself and this water tank is all there is of it." "Why," said B., "is there not a Mr. Jones starting a large store here?" "Divil the bit," said Pat. It soon dawned upon the Bostonian that he had been the victim of a cruel joke. He turned to the fisherman and paid a farmer $3 to haul his baggage back to Abilene. When he returned, one of the boys gave him the "grand hailing sign" and told him why it was done. He "set 'em up" in fine style and said he would ever after be ready to extend the hand of fellowship to a worthy brother whenever he should find him.—Cor. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Lost in a Small Town.
In his delightful record of "An Embassy of Providence," Mr. Thomas A. Janvier relates how he was lost in the many streets of the little town of Vers. The place was strange to him. His pony, being tormented by flies, ran away with the carriage or buggy. But "the ponette" did not run too madly to respond to the rein, so Mr. Janvier turned this, that and the other corner and flew past startled old women, children, dogs and hens, till he did not know his way back to the main road. He says:
"A brave old man rescued us. While I held the ponette I heard her scold her bridle, and when he had calmed her by brushing away the tormenting flies and I had explained that we were lost and had begged him to guide us to the highway he smiled gently and in a moment led us out from that entangling maze. "The distance to the highway proved to be less than two score yards, but then he knew what turns to take in that marvelously crooked town."
"In my gratitude I offered to let him have money. He refused to accept it. 'I cannot take money from you,' he said, politely. 'Already I am more than paid. In all the 70 years of my life here in Vers monsieur is the very first who has been lost in my little town. It is most interesting. It is enough.'"
"In this position he was firm. I thanked him again warmly, and we drove away. When we had gone a short distance, I looked back. He was standing in the middle of the road gazing after us. His face was wreathed in smiles."

Germany's Royal Children.
All the children of the imperial family have been baptized in water from the Jordan, according to a custom long established in the royal house of Prussia. The empress has of late received innumerable requests to stand as sponsor to the children of all classes of people in all parts of Germany, so many in fact that she has found it impossible to accede to even a tithe of the applications. She has therefore made it a rule to act as godmother only when one or other of the parents is personally known to her.
The empress always prepares some kind of celebration for the birthdays of her children. One of these anniversaries came along at the time of the Bismarck episode. The kaiser, who was playing with the children at the little family feast, was astonished to hear from the eldest of his offspring this comment on the event which had just astonished the world: "Father," piped out the crown prince, "they say that you will now tell the people what to do all by yourself. You will like that better, won't you, father?" The conversation was not prolonged.—Arthur Warren in Ladies Home Journal.

Flushing Fresh Water Pipes.
A vegetable growth in the water mains at St. Paul has been the cause of some trouble. The first case was discovered by the superintendent in one of two service pipes in a single trench supplying a double house. A complaint was made of bad water, which flushing failed to improve. One of the pipes delivered pure water, and one supplied a muddy liquid that was of no use. These facts led to the conclusion that one of the services was foul, and the remedy applied on this supposition proved effective. The boiler of a portable engine was connected with the faucet of the kitchen sink from which the muddy water came and a steam pressure of 70 pounds forced against the 35 pounds water pressure for 30 minutes—thereby driving the water out of the pipe.
Since that time the pipe has always delivered clear water, and 12 similar cases have been successfully treated in the same manner. Great care has to be taken that there are no leaks in the service pipes and that none of the fittings are open during the steaming process.—Engineering Record.

A Matter of Locality.
First Tourist—to companion who has just cracked a very senseless joke—Do you call that wit?
Second Tourist—Certainly.
First Tourist—Well, I don't.
Second Tourist—But you forget we're in England now.
First Tourist—Oh, yes! Sure enough! Beg pardon. Ha! ha! ha!—Truth.

BALD HEADS!

What is the condition of yours? Is your hair dry, harsh, brittle? Does it split at the ends? Has it a lifeless appearance? Does it fall out when combed or brushed? Is it full of dandruff? Does your scalp itch? Is it dry or in a heated condition? If these are some of your symptoms be warned in time or you will become bald.

Is what you need. Its production is not an accident, but the result of scientific research. Knowledge of the diseases of the hair and scalp led to the discovery of a remedy to treat them. "Skookum" contains neither mercury nor iodine. It is a pure, but a delightfully cooling and refreshing Tonic. By stimulating the follicles, it stops falling hair, cures dandruff and grows hair on bald heads.

Keep the scalp clean, healthy, and free from irritating eruptions, by the use of Skookum Skin Soap. It destroys parasitic insects, which feed on and destroy the hair.

If your druggist cannot supply you send direct to us, and we will forward prepaid, in return for price. Grover, $1.00 per bottle; 5 for $5.00. Soap, 50c. per box; 5 for $2.50.

A Repentant Lover's Awful Mistake.
Archibald Augustus Darrow stood gloomily in the dock, the wreck of a well-dressed man about town, and when it came time to make excuses for his woe he said:
"Your honor, I am the victim of another man's mistake. A few days ago I was the happiest of men. Fortuna and love both smiled. I wooed and won one of the city's fairest and most exacting maids. Then I was persuaded to take part in the Circus Maximus festivity as Demetrius Propolisus, one of the myrmillones.
"The rehearsal for my exacting and heroic role took all my time. I neglected my lady love until I grew frowsier of my fate. Then I said to myself, 'I will make amends.' So I sought a florist.
"I bought the most beautiful floral offering for my time and skill can arrange."
"What did it cost?" he asked.
"Oh, anything. But make it large and fine and send it to this number. With this I gave him the location of my lady's home.
"That night I stole a moment from rehearsal to see my sweetheart's lover and ascertain how my gift had been received. Her mother, frowning, stern and awful, sat at the door. Pointing with dramatic finger to the parlor table, she said:
"What is this insult heaped upon your neglect? Go, base ingrate! Go, and never return!"
"I looked in the direction indicated by her finger, and there upon the table, full in the glare of the chandelier, was an enormous floral pillow, which was embossed in flaming, marigolds the one word 'Rest.' I fled the house, and since that time I haven't known whether I was a myrmillo or a mousetrap."—San Francisco Examiner.

A Useful Leg.
In the human body, at least, art never replaces nature with better work, but when false teeth refuse to ache and wooden legs save men from drowning one is tempted to make some exceptions. An Alabama duck hunter had a curious adventure one day while on the water in a skiff. He had lost a leg in a railroad accident and wore a cork substitute, useful for ordinary purposes, but preventing him from following game except in a boat.
On this occasion, as he was an expert marksman, he had almost loaded the skiff with ducks when, in reaching after a particularly nice bird, he overreached and upset the boat.
Down went the birds, the gun and the hunter, and as there was a swift current at that point the boat drifted away before he came to the surface. Being unable to swim, the hunter clutched wildly for a support, but found none, and would certainly have been drowned had it not been for his cork leg.
It kept him afloat, and at first he was overjoyed; but he became apprehensive. The cork leg had a tendency to invert him in the water, but after struggling against this for some time he managed to unstrap the limb and use it as a float.
It was then easy to paddle ashore, and the hunter was saved, although he lost nearly everything else but his life.—Youth's Companion.

To Brace Up
The system after "La Grippe," pneumonia; fevers; and other prostrating acute diseases; to build up needed flesh and strength, and restore health and vigor when you feel run down and used up, the best thing in the world is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It promotes all the bodily functions, rouses every organ into healthful action, purifies and enriches the blood, and through it cleanses, repairs, and invigorates the whole system.
For the most stubborn scrofulous skin or scalp diseases, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, and kindred diseases, the "discovery" is the only remedy that is guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

Can you think of any thing that is more convincing than the promise that is made by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy? It is this: "If we can't cure your catarrh, we will pay you $500 in cash."
